REPORT OF THE SENATE COMMITTEE ON STUDENT RELATIONSHIPS
ON THE
COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE STUDENT ASSEMBLY

The Committee on Student Relationships met on Friday, March 20, 1970, to consider the "Communications from Student Assembly" referred to it by the Senate at its meeting of March 13.

The Communications included amendments adopted by the Student Assembly to Resolution 69/6 establishing the Joint Committee of the Senate and Assembly, and the names of seven students nominated for the Joint Committee if it is established as planned despite the resignation of the members of the Student Assembly on March 1 of this year.

The Committee considered several alternatives, including dropping the Joint Committee entirely, modifying the establishing resolution, and proceeding to establish it as already planned.

The Committee felt strongly that the need for elimination of duplication of functions continued to exist, and that if anything the resignation of members of the Student Assembly made more urgent still the requirement for a single, strong, balanced student-faculty committee on student affairs and student faculty relationships.

Since the structure of the Joint Committee is to be reviewed (in accordance with Paragraph 3 of Resolution 69/6) and its future determined at the end of its first year of operation, and since there is a likelihood that the organization of student government, presently so much in flux, will have stabilized by that time, it was thought best not to modify the original establishing resolution but to simply proceed with the establishment of the Joint Committee as planned and make further decisions after an initial year of testing and development.

The Committee therefore recommends the attached RESOLUTION TO AFFIRM INTENT TO PROCEED TO ESTABLISH THE PERMANENT JOINT COMMITTEE OF THE UNIVERSITY SENATE AND STUDENT ASSEMBLY.

A RESOLUTION TO AFFIRM INTENT TO PROCEED TO ESTABLISH THE ~~PERMANENT~~ JOINT COMMITTEE OF THE UNIVERSITY SENATE
AND STUDENT ASSEMBLY (69/16)

amendment carried

WHEREAS, there continues to exist a strong need for a single, balanced student-faculty committee to serve faculty, students, and administration as an advisory body on matters concerning student affairs and student-faculty relationships; and

WHEREAS, the Student Assembly before resigning nominated the student membership for the Joint Committee of the Senate and Assembly approved by the Senate in Resolution 69/6; and

WHEREAS, the future of the Joint Committee may be decided at the end of its first year of operation based on a review of its performance and the then existing situation of student government; therefore

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE UNIVERSITY SENATE OF THE GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY:

That in accordance with Resolution 69/6, upon notification of approval by the President of the University, faculty members shall be elected to establish the Joint Committee of the University Senate and the Student Assembly.

THE GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY
Washington, D. C.

In response to a request from the Chairman of the Executive Committee of the University Senate, the Committee on University Objectives has considered the general question whether the University should respond to the environmental/ecological problems which are currently so much a matter of public concern.

The Resolution we are presenting to the Senate reflects the Committee's conclusion that the University must and should involve itself in the environmental/ecological area, which has been characterized as the major problem facing the American people in the 1970's. As a means of defining the philosophical context in which we should wish our Resolution to be discussed and adopted, we begin by making explicit certain assumptions about the nature of universities on which we are all agreed and which, we believe, can hardly be repeated and reaffirmed too often.

A university is an institution of learning whose basic and primary mission is to promote scholarship, which we define as study, teaching, and research. As such, a university is equipped to bring the light of scholarship to bear upon important problems that may be confronting a society at any given time, and to do so in a distinctively valuable way which is made possible by the fact that a university is by definition removed from any direct responsibility for the world of action. Faculty members and students alike, in their role as members of a university, aim at cultivating as their highest virtue such attitudes and practices as detachment, dispassionate and reasoned examination of evidence, and disinterested formulation of whatever conclusion(s) the light of reason may lead each mind to perceive as true.

It is in the perspective of these enduring principles that we should affirm it as a major responsibility of universities to educate their students about the great problems of the day and to advance their students' development as mature persons equipped to help solve great problems. Similarly, it is in the perspective of these same principles that we should wish our own University to accept the opportunity now before it, of directing the light of its scholarship toward the environmental/ecological problems of our time.

Since no university can afford to expend its energies on all of the contemporary problems that one group or another would like it to consider, choices must be made among competing demands, decisions based on critical, reasoned discrimination among alternatives. We believe that the environmental/ecological area is one which this University would be justified in choosing as one of the areas in which it will try to make a distinctive effort and achieve a peculiar excellence.

There now exists a combination of circumstances which, we believe, warrants the University's resolving to make a special commitment of this sort. Our Washington location provides unique opportunities for developing important and effective programs in this field. The problems of protecting and preserving the environment are of a kind to place a university such as ours (equipped with able scholars in a wide variety of disciplines, but lacking certain kinds of material resources) in an unusually favorable position for making substantial contributions. Most importantly, the Committee has learned that various components of the University already have in being significant programs directly relevant to the environmental/ecological field, and thus already are clearly demonstrating the University's capability to make important contributions.

The environmental/ecological issues with which the public is now concerned are partly a consequence of scientific and technological developments, and science and technology will prove to be important instruments for resolving the issues. Several of our schools and departments already have courses and programs dealing with the general subject of "science, technology, and public policy," most of which unquestionably deal with environmental problems or with closely related problems. We understand that the National Law Center is contemplating establishment of a new Clinical Program in Environmental Law which will build on its existing Law, Science, and Technology Program and on its Natural Resources Law Program, both of which have a substantial environmental content. In addition, Vice President Mayo has informed us about the important activities concerned with environment/ecology being carried on by the University's Program of Policy Studies in Science and Technology, and also about research projects related to the environment which are now in progress in various schools and departments.

Thus we are pleased to be able to report that the University already is making a substantial response to today's environmental/ecological problems, and we enthusiastically endorse the existing courses and programs. However, all of the comment and guidance that we have been able to obtain from the several well-informed persons we have consulted within the University uniformly leads us to conclude that more could be done.

The first step would be a major, explicit University-wide commitment to a program focusing on environmental/ecological concerns. At the same time that we encourage such a step, we wish to draw particular attention to one potential threat in the situation as it now exists.

We do not believe that the University's activity in this area should be allowed to grow up simply through the piecemeal addition of courses or programs, now in one school or department and now in another. Such a process will inevitably dissipate the University's resources. Inevitably also, such a process will weaken the impact of even the very considerable effort the University is already making. It will do so because of the essential character of the problem itself. The most important single principle that our consultants have enabled us to perceive is that the environmental/ecological problem is interdisciplinary by its very nature. The problem can be solved only through the integrated contributions of scholars from a wide range of disciplines.

We therefore conclude that there would be great merit in at least considering the feasibility of establishing a single, coordinated University-wide program on Environmental/Ecological Problems which would draw on the resources of all relevant schools and departments and which would be available to all qualified students in whichever school or department they might be resident. Such a program could be either modest or ambitious. A modest program would merely provide a vehicle for facilitating the cross-disciplinary availability of courses. A more ambitious program might involve preparation of interdisciplinary teaching materials and, perhaps, joint interdisciplinary instruction.

19 March 1970

A RESOLUTION CONCERNING THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A UNIVERSITY ENVIRONMENTAL/ECOLOGICAL PROGRAM (69/17)

WHEREAS, problems of maintaining the quality of the environment and protecting our ecology have become a major public concern, a concern shared by many students and Faculty members; and

WHEREAS, the University, by reason of its location, resources, and existing programs has the capability to make a substantial contribution both in the resolution of problems and in the education of students for coping with the problems; and

WHEREAS, both the importance and the multidisciplinary nature of the problems make it desirable that the University establish a cohesive, unified, coordinated program in this area instead of allowing individual schools and departments to establish programs or courses on a fragmentary, insular basis; therefore

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE UNIVERSITY SENATE OF THE GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY:

That the Vice President for Academic Affairs and the Vice President for Advanced Policy Studies be urged to convene a meeting of the Deans and Chairmen (or their designated representatives) both of schools and departments which already offer programs or courses relating to environmental/ecological problems and also of schools and departments which may have a potential interest in such programs, to

- (1) inventory the courses and programs relating to this area that are already in existence in the various schools and departments;
- (2) consider what new courses or programs might be initiated to create a comprehensive University-wide program in this area;
- (3) consider procedures to facilitate the availability of all such courses and programs to qualified students in any component of the University;
- (4) consider what forms of interdisciplinary cooperation would be desirable or feasible to enhance the teaching and research functions of the University in this area; and
- (5) consider possible sources of funding.

TO: University Senate

FROM: Committee on Administrative Matters as They Affect the Faculty

SUBJECT: Interim special report re Resolution 69/10

DATE: 2 April 1970

The Committee met 4 March to plan and organize itself to carry out the investigation called for in Professor Robinson's Resolution 69/10. A memorandum from the Chairman of the Executive Committee containing some information and recommendations, dated 16 February, was received by the chairman 6 March.

The Committee agreed that inputs should be solicited from students, faculty, and administration. Various procedures were considered, including the possibility of soliciting the cooperation of The Hatchet. The Committee determined that it was logical to start with the administration, since they were most consistently involved in the process. They could perhaps also best "educate" the Committee. A series of three consecutive one-hour interviews were conducted 12 March with the Registrar, the Comptroller, and the Assistant Treasurer and their selected staff members.

A questionnaire is being prepared to be sent to a sample of all students currently registered. It is anticipated that approximately 280 students--undergraduate and graduate, full and part-time, from all colleges and divisions--will be contacted. In addition, students not included in the sample will be given the opportunity to complete the questionnaire.

Another questionnaire will be sent to all department chairmen. Other faculty who wish to complete the questionnaire will be given the opportunity to do so. Associate Dean Koehl will be invited to meet with the Committee.

After the questionnaires have been completed and tabulated, all obtained information and recommendations will be considered and a final report, including any recommendations generated, will be made to the University Senate. This report will be an addendum to the Annual Report and will be submitted at the May meeting.

Frederick R. Houser
Secretary

Report of Special Committee elected by The University Senate on December 12, 1969, to mediate the dispute between Assistant Professor Kosara Gavrilovic and
The Department of Slavic Languages and Literatures

Operating under provisions of the Code and Ordinances Governing Academic Personnel, the committee met several times alone. It also met once with Professor Helen Jakobson, former chairman of the Department of Slavic Languages, twice with Professor Charles Moser, present chairman, and once with Assistant Professor Kosara Gavrilovic. Mr. A. Lee Fentress, Mrs. Gavrilovic's lawyer, was invited to and did appear with her when she met with the special committee.

The committee viewed as its primary objective the promotion of a settlement of the controversy by direct agreement among the interested parties. It explored with each of those mentioned above the kinds of accommodation that might be acceptable. It inquired as to the allegations upon which the dispute arose. In order to promote frankness and candor the committee emphasized informality and did not keep recordings of or detailed notes on statements made during the interviews.

The effectiveness of the committee in helping to bring about the agreement which has now been reached among the interested parties probably resulted from two things. One of these is that the committee was able to propose some possibilities that would meet the major objectives of both Mrs. Gavrilovic and of the Department. The other is that after having become convinced itself that it would be better for all concerned to reach a mutually acceptable settlement rather than to have formal proceedings before the Senate's Professional Ethics and Academic Freedom Committee, it was able to persuade the parties to this same point of view.

On 16 January 1970 the chairman received a note from Professor Moser to the effect that progress was being made in developing a mutually acceptable settlement. Thereafter the special committee did not intervene.

The nature of the agreement that has been reached is indicated by the following release from the George Washington University Public Relations Office:

Mrs. Kosara Gavrilovic's regular contract as an Assistant Professor of Russian ends in June 1970. The Department of Slavic Languages, in accordance with its right to recommend appointments, renewals and terminations, has recommended that Mrs. Gavrilovic be granted a one-year appointment as Assistant Research Professor of Russian for the academic year 1970-71, at a salary equal to her present one. This will enable her to pursue her research interests. She has accepted the appointment.

Report of the Special Committee elected by The University Senate on December 12, 1969

It can be added that the committee found the dispute to be only between a faculty member and her department. The committee found that the administration had acted in accord with such advice as it was given concerning departmental recommendations in this matter.

University Senate Committee on Administrative Matters as They Affect the Faculty

Annual Report, 1969-1970

The organization of the Committee was delayed because of the necessity of replacing the original chairman, Professor Thomas A. Clingan, who went on sabbatical leave. Professor Raymond S. Cottrell was elected at the 10 October 1969 Senate meeting as the new chairman.

The Committee held four regular meetings during the academic year. Regular meetings were conducted 12 November and 4 December 1969 as well as 4 February and 1 April 1970. Two special meetings have been held in response to Senate Resolution 69/10 (concerning registration), which was referred to this Committee, and additional special meetings are planned.

Some of the topics covered were of a continuing nature. The following brief report of items considered by the Committee, excluding the disposition of the referred resolution, is submitted.

Noise Problem. This was a project continued from the past year. Noise external to the classroom, especially that caused by motorcycles and lawnmowers, has been a particular concern because of its disruptive effects in the classroom. The Parking Committee has established a separate parking area for motorcycles and motorbikes which seems to reduce considerably this source of disruption. Since most classroom buildings are air "controlled" or air-conditioned, the recommendation has been that all windows be kept closed.

Smoking in Classrooms. A resolution concerning smoking in classrooms during classes was formulated, sent to the Senate for its consideration, and adopted after some discussion at the 13 February 1970 Senate meeting (Resolution 69/7).

Late Registration Fee Waivers. Although the 1968-1969 Annual Report indicated a proposal would be forthcoming this year, Mr. Naramore indicates that the problem appears to have been largely solved by administrative action. Therefore, this is now considered a closed item.

Other items considered briefly included publication of a campus telephone directory (condensed pocket size) and GWU withholding of Maryland state income tax.

Prior to the initial meeting of the Committee, Professor Cottrell was appointed to serve as a member of the "committee on content of official student records in the registrar's office" by Vice President and Provost Bright. Other members of the committee were Neil Portnow, Paul Sherburne, and F. R. Houser, Chairman. The committee met twice and submitted a report to Vice President Bright.

The chairman wishes to make known his thanks to Miss Ellison Royce for her services to the Committee, especially the diligent research involved in preparation of the resolution on smoking.

THE UNIVERSITY SENATE COMMITTEE ON ATHLETICS
Annual Report 1969-70

The committee has been concerned with two major areas of interest in the University's intercollegiate athletics program. The first area was that of a location for the intercollegiate basketball games. The Fort Myer facility is adequate but our continued use of it is at the complete discretion of the Post Commander. In order to assure the availability of a suitable facility, the committee recommended that the Director of Athletics engage in the preliminary discussions necessary to achieve this goal.

The second area of interest concerned the transition period the intercollegiate athletics program is entering as the University leaves the Southern Conference (in June, 1970) and becomes an Independent. There are several problems associated with this change and the committee has discussed them at some length. At the present time it seems premature to make recommendations in this area, but we expect to come to the Senate with several specific proposals in the Fall of 1970.

SENATE LIBRARY COMMITTEE
Annual Report 1968-69

1. The Committee met five times between November 1968 and May 1969, and also held one joint meeting with the Library Liaison Committee of the Student Assembly. The joint meeting was judged by all attending to be the most fruitful in promoting communications among all users of our library facilities. It constituted a first experimental step on the part of our Committee toward the establishment of periodic exchanges between faculty and students.
2. The Committee divided its time between (a) exchanges with the librarian members of information, suggestions, and queries about "housekeeping" functions of the library; (b) the consideration of working conditions of the library staff.
3. Concerning 2(b), Mr. Woodward pointed out the urgent need for more enlightened leave and classificatory personnel practices on the part of the University. The present two-week leave policy puts us in a decidedly poor competitive situation with library staff, especially when employing. University library people throughout the country and government library staff in Washington are offered fringe benefits (leave, free medical examinations, etc.) more attractive than those of George Washington University.
4. In view of the above, the Committee is unanimous in urging that the Academic Vice President exercise all his influence to bring about a change in personnel classification, and to set up a special category for library staff which will make our library as attractive a place in which to work as those of our competition.
5. Mr. Woodward provided the Committee with a well-documented proposal for granting academic status to librarians at this University. Practices in this regard vary considerably throughout American universities, although there appears to be a trend toward more recognition of the scholarly aspects of library work. No doubt this is a matter which will receive further study by the successors of this year's Committee.

SENATE LIBRARY COMMITTEE
Annual Report 1969-70

The Committee met on February 24, 1970, to be apprised of and to consider the current status of the planning for the new library. Mr. Woodward, the Director of Libraries, presented to the Committee very detailed information on this subject, with primary attention directed to funding and choice of site. Committee discussion focused mainly on the choice of site, and the Committee desires that the Senate be informed of its opinion on this matter.

There are three sites currently under consideration by those in charge of site selection. They are located on

- (a) the southeast corner of 22nd and H Streets
- (b) the northeast corner of 22nd and H Streets
- (c) the north side of F Street between 19th and 20th Streets

The Committee's sentiment on the matter is that (c) is not a desirable location because it is too far from the center of University activity, and that on the other hand (a) and (b) are good locations precisely because they are at the center of University activity. The Committee felt that of (a) and (b), (a) is the more desirable because it is slightly nearer to most dormitories, classrooms and faculty offices than is (b) as can be seen from reference to a map of the campus.

SENATE COMMITTEE ON STUDENT RELATIONSHIPS
Annual Report 1969-70

The two chief items considered by the Committee during this term resulted in resolutions approved by the Senate:

- 1) Resolution to Establish a Permanent Joint Committee of the University Senate and the Student Assembly (69/6), approved as amended December 12, 1969;
- 2) A Resolution to Approve the Joint Statement on Student Rights and Responsibilities (69/9), amended statement and resolution approved February 27, 1970.

Among other matters considered briefly were the problems of the proper political role of the University, raised by the fall Moratoria, and the possibility of an inquiry into the state of student services. Both of these items were displaced by the lengthy consideration of the Joint Statement.

ANNUAL REPORT -- COMMITTEE ON UNIVERSITY OBJECTIVES, 1969-70

The Committee on University Objectives has held four meetings this year, on 16 December 1969 and on 3, 16, and 31 March 1970. We have been concerned with two topics, as follows:

1. Our first activity was to discuss Senate Resolution 69/3 (A Resolution Defining University Objectives with Particular Respect to Sponsored Research and Community Service), which had been recommitted to us by the Senate at its meeting of 10 October 1969. At the Committee's meeting of 16 December we identified the issues involved and agreed to meet again for the purpose of considering such draft resolutions on the subject(s) as might be drawn up by the several members of the Committee. Such a draft resolution was received from Professor Sinick, but before we were able to begin work on it we received a request to discuss a quite different question (see #2 below). We felt that the urgency of this new assignment was such as to justify our deferring consideration of Professor Sinick's draft. However, we should like to request that the Committee on University Objectives include discussion of that draft resolution (copy attached) on its agenda for 1970-71.

2. Our chief activity this year has been to study the question, Should the University make some concerted effort in response to the environmental/ecological problems which are so much a matter of public concern at present? The result of our deliberations is Resolution 69/17 (A Resolution Concerning the Establishment of a University Environmental/Ecological Program), which we are submitting to the Senate along with a background paper designed to sketch the context in which we believe the University should consider the question.

A RESOLUTION DEFINING UNIVERSITY OBJECTIVES
WITH PARTICULAR RESPECT TO COMMUNITY SERVICE

WHEREAS The George Washington University has adopted an explicit philosophy of community involvement; and

WHEREAS University projects serving the community can also serve the University's basic educational purpose by providing participating students with enriching learning experiences.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE SENATE OF THE GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY:

that community service projects constitute a proper area of educational as well as social responsibility for The George Washington University. Initiation of, or involvement in, community service projects ought to be based upon deliberate consideration of the extent to which particular projects may benefit both the community and the student body. Service commitments to the community should complement the educational endeavors of students or faculty. Faculty involvement in community service projects may immediately or ultimately benefit students.
